WELCOME TO GIBRALTAR

WHETHER YOU'RE CONTEMPLATING A VISIT, ON YOUR WAY, OR IN GIBRALTAR ALREADY, WELCOME TO A FASCINATING CORNER OF THE MEDITERRANEAN.

We've been so popular for centuries that here on The Rock you'll experience the legacy of the Phoenicians, Romans, Moors, Spanish, British and other great civilisations, but above all our legendary Gibraltarian hospitality.

Let our warm climate, outstanding natural history and heritage entice you to come back time and time again to the crossroads of the Mediterranean Sea, the Atlantic Ocean, Europe and Africa in this unique destination.

The Gibraltar Tourist Board looks forward to helping you make the most of your stay and please, do come back again soon.

The Hon Ernest M Britto OBE ED MP, Minister for the Environment and Tourism

Gibraltar has attracted visitors for centuries. There can be few places in the world that equal the Rock in terms of sheer physical presence.

Gibraltar is situated in a unique strategic location on the southern tip of the Iberian Peninsula, overlooking the Strait of Gibraltar and linked to the Spanish mainland by a narrow isthmus. Despite an imposing appearance Gibraltar is small, measuring less than six square kilometres in total. Its precipitous rock and cliffs stretch skywards some 426 metres. This is the only place in Europe where monkeys range free in a semi-wild state, reflecting the Rock's rich natural history which flourishes in a sub-tropical climate. Gibraltar's past is etched right here on the limestone, as well as expressed in the faces and customs of the people, a fascinating blend of cultures that have all left their stamp throughout a rich and tumultuous history which dates back to Neanderthal times.

Today Gibraltar offers something for everyone, ranging from archaeological treasures and priceless artefacts to a wide variety of shops and restaurants. It is also a stimulating world centre of business and commerce. Gibraltar is a perfect base to explore the surrounding cultures, countries and continents. Enjoy a day trip to the ancient town of Seville famous for flamenco dancing, or discover the home of sherry - Jerez.

A short ferry ride across the Strait lies Morocco and the exotic town of Tangier. There are several golf courses within a short drive of the Rock including the world famous Valderrama.

CLIMATE

Gibraltar has an average of 320 days of sunshine a year and temperatures can rise well above 30°C in summer. The sub-tropical sun of North Africa is tempered by gentle sea breezes in summer.

INFORMATION CENTRES

For a warm introduction to the attractions waiting for you, contact the Gibraltar Tourist Board (see back page for details). Or, when you arrive in Gibraltar, make your first stop one of the five tourist information centres located at the:

- Airport Arrivals Hall
- Casemates Square
- Frontier
- Coach Terminus
- Cruise Terminal

There you'll discover everything you need to get started on your holiday; things to do, places to go, sights to see. The Information Centres will be happy to advise you regarding opening times and prices so that you can plan your time in Gibraltar with ease.

You'll find further practical information on page 18 of this brochure.

LOCATION

Gibraltar is situated at the southern end of the Iberian Peninsula. It is recognised as the southernmost point of Europe. It is also strategically positioned at the western end of the Mediterranean, forming one of the ancient Pillars of Hercules. The surrounding countries are Spain to the north and Morocco in North Africa to the south.

HISTORY

GIBRALTAR IS A BRITISH OVERSEAS TERRITORY. ITS COMMUNITY, DRAWN FROM BRITISH, GENOESE, PORTUGUESE, MALTESE, SPANISH, JEWISH AND OTHER ORIGINS, IS FIRMLY CONSOLIDATED – FRIENDLY, BILINGUAL AND IN RACIAL AND RELIGIOUS HARMONY.

Gibraltar is steeped in history; an intertwining of civilisations and cultures which dates back many thousands of years. What's more, it is a living history reflected, not just in the Gibraltarians themselves, but also in the many legacies that remain to this day, including a number of pre-historic caves and a Moorish Castle and baths that date back to the 11th century.

The architecture is similarly eclectic with many Georgian and Victorian buildings, as well as those that reflect a Portuguese, Genoese or Moorish influence. But it is the caves that were certainly man's first home here. In 1848 an ancient skull was discovered in Forbes's Quarry, at the foot of the steep north face. Then, just eight years later, an identical skull was discovered, this time in the Neander Valley near Dusseldorf. "Neanderthal Man" should really have been "Gibraltar Woman"!

Ancient mariners first arrived here by the 8th century BC, leaving gifts to the gods to bribe the almighty before sailing into the Atlantic and the unknown. The Phoenicians called the Rock "Calpe". Julius Caesar defeated the sons of Pompeii almost within sight of Calpe, and the first description of Gibraltar was written by the Roman geographer Pomponius Mela. The Muslim invasion of Europe started in the Bay of Gibraltar where the Visigoths sided with Muslims by lending their ships to Berber Chief, Tarik Ibn Zeyad who landed by Tarik's mountain – "Jebel Tarik" – and became immortalised by naming it at the same time.

Gibraltar continued under Moorish dominion for over seven centuries, but was taken by Spain for a brief period of 24 years in the early 14th century. It was not until 1462 that the Spaniards finally re-captured the Rock. It remained in Spanish possession until 1704 when it fell to a combined Anglo-Dutch force. The Treaty of Utrecht ceded the Rock into the 'Crown of Great Britain' in perpetuity, but Gibraltar continued to be subject to bloody conflict from Spain and, in 1782, work began on the famous "Great Siege Tunnels".

TAKE A WALKING TOUR, WHICH WILL TAKE YOU ON A HISTORICAL JOURNEY THROUGH THE CITY CENTRE AND FORTIFICATIONS.

MEDITERRANEAN STEPS

The Mediterranean Steps, one of the Upper Rock's most wondrous and awe-inspiring nature walks have undergone extensive restoration. This 1,400-metre climb isn't for the faint-hearted, briskly soaring from the 180 metres of Jews' Gate to the 410 metres above sea level of O'Hara's Battery.

GREAT SIEGE TUNNELS

The sieges of the late 18th century led to a network of tunnelled defences being excavated in the Rock to allow the mounting of a prototype gun, the first ever able to fire downwards. This tunnel was the first to be excavated on the Upper Rock in 1782.

WORLD WAR II TUNNELS

Immediately following the successful tunneling during the Great Siege, a further network of tunnels was excavated inside the Rock. Up until 1940 when Britain was at war with Germany and Italy, Winston Churchill believed that an attack on Gibraltar was imminent. The answer was to construct a massive network of tunnels to build a fortress inside a fortress. In June 2005, part of this network of tunnels was opened to the general public by Rock and Fortress allowing you to follow in the footsteps of Churchill and De Gaulle.

The remainder of the tunnel network still belongs to the Ministry of Defence. Specialist guides provide fascinating tours of this other section of tunnels by prior arrangement.

MILITARY HERITAGE CENTRE

A fascinating array of artefacts of military history housed in Princess Caroline's Battery.

GIBRALTAR, A CITY UNDER SIEGE EXHIBITION

The graffiti here dates back to the 18th century. The exhibit demonstrates the appalling conditions the soldiers lived in, as well as an old water system.

MOORISH CASTLE

The fortifications on and around the site of the Moorish Castle were first built in 1160. These were, however, destroyed when the Spanish re-conquered Gibraltar from 1309 – 1333. The Tower of Homage, its main feature, dominates the hillside and the landward approach to Gibraltar. It dates primarily from about 1333 AD when Abu'l Hassan recaptured Gibraltar from the Spanish. On another occasion the Count of Niebla attacked the castle, was captured by the Moorish defenders and his body was suspended from the walls in a barcina, or net for carrying straw. The Tower of Homage proudly displays the battle scars inflicted during the various sieges. Here a Spanish governor held out for five months against the Duke of Medina Sidonia, who took Gibraltar from his own sovereign, Queen Isabella of Spain. In 1540, hundreds of people found safety inside the castle when Turkish pirates ransacked Gibraltar. The lower castle formerly stretched all the way down to Casemates Square in the town centre.

The Battle of Trafalgar was fought close to the Rock in 1805. The 19th century was Gibraltar's heyday, as a staging port on the vital route to India. Another series of tunnels was completed during the Second World War. Gibraltar became home to naval fleet Force H and became the focal point from where Eisenhower masterminded the North Africa landings in 1942. During the Franco era, Spain attempted to revive her claim for the reversion of the Rock to Spanish sovereignty, which culminated in the closure of the border for thirteen years in 1969. The roots of Gibraltar have grown deep into the Rock for millions of years. The natural history, the culture and, finally, the people themselves - the Gibraltarians - are the result: the ultimate proof that the history of the Rock lives on...

CHARLES V WALL

In 1540, the Turks launched an attack on Gibraltar prompting Charles V to strengthen the defences of the Rock. The most famous of these improvements became known as Charles V Wall, which protected the city from possible future attacks from the south.

JEW'S GATE

An old Jewish Cemetery tucked away behind the trees, a fascinating piece of history that reflects the important role the Jewish people have played in moulding Gibraltar's history.

GIBRALTAR MUSEUM

Experience and enjoy Gibraltar's fascinating 200-million year history, with an audiovisual presentation and several galleries displaying original artefacts, old prints and photographs. The Rock's rich and diverse natural history is also represented while the lower part of the building houses what is arguably the best-preserved Moorish Bath House in Europe.

GARRISON LIBRARY

This handsome building was built on top of the site of the Governor's residence during the Spanish period. It was inaugurated in 1793 and houses a remarkable collection of works on Gibraltar. Close by are some of the offices of the Gibraltar Chronicle, Gibraltar's oldest newspaper (founded in 1801), Europe's second oldest English periodical and the first to report the victory at Trafalgar. Guided tours of the Garrison Library are available.

NELSON'S ANCHORAGE – 100 TON GUN

HMS Victory was towed to Rosia Bay after Nelson's Victory at Trafalgar, with the Admiral's body preserved on board in a barrel of rum. Also worth visiting is the impressive 100 Ton Gun installed in the early nineteenth century but never fired in anger.

TRAFALGAR CEMETERY

Situated just south of the city walls, this was used as Gibraltar's military cemetery in the early 19th century. Although the name commemorates the Battle of Trafalgar, only two of those buried there actually died of wounds suffered in the battle (1805). A ceremony is held here every year, on Trafalgar Day, to commemorate Lord Nelson's victory.

GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

Built by public subscription in 1817, the former commercial exchange and public library building is now the seat of the Gibraltar Parliament.

LAW COURTS

Among the most famous cases heard here were those of the sailing ship Marie Celeste (1872) - one of the greatest sea mysteries of all time. Gibraltar is also a popular wedding destination - John Lennon and Yoko Ono married at the Registry Office which was then located in this building on 20th March 1969.

THE CONVENT

This building, situated towards the southern end of Main Street, has been the official residence of Gibraltar's Governors since 1728. It was once a Convent of Franciscan Friars, hence its name. A ceremonial guard at the main entrance is provided by soldiers of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment. An elaborate and colourful parade of the Changing of the Guard is performed outside this historical venue, a few times a year.

Monuments

AMERICAN WAR MEMORIAL

Designed by Dr. Paul Cret of Philadelphia for the American Battle Monuments Commission. This prominent arch was built into the main City Wall in 1932-33 to commemorate the achievements and comradeship of the U.S. and Royal Navies during the First World War.

GIBRALTAR WAR MEMORIAL

Unveiled by the then Governor Sir Charles Monro on the 27th September 1923, the memorial is the work of Jose Piquet Catoli of Barcelona and is constructed of Carrara marble. There are two Russian guns close by, which were brought to Gibraltar in 1858 after having been captured during the Crimean War.

POLISH MONUMENT

The original propeller is situated close to the entrance to Eastern Beach, near the site where Polish Prime Minister General Sikorski lost his life in an air crash in 1943.

EVACUEES MEMORIAL

This statue was erected in honour of the Gibraltarians, most of whom were evacuated during World War II and sent to Morocco, Madeira, Jamaica, Northern Ireland and England.

Historic Places of Worship

SHRINE AND MUSEUM OF OUR LADY OF EUROPE

Located at the southern end of the Rock, this shrine was originally a mosque and converted into a chapel by the Spaniards in 1462. The light that was kept burning in a tower above the chapel was the original Gibraltar lighthouse. Although the shrine was plundered and pillaged by the pirate Red Beard, its most valuable treasure – the 15th century statue of the Virgin and Child – is still venerated there to this day. There is a museum at the Shrine that depicts its long history.

CATHEDRAL OF ST. MARY THE CROWNED

Situated on the site of the chief mosque in the centre of the town, the Cathedral was badly damaged by shelling during the 18th century Great Siege. Some of the early structure can still be appreciated, however, as well as a fragment of the Spanish and Moorish architectural tradition. It was converted into a Roman Catholic Cathedral soon after 1462.

KING'S CHAPEL

The garrison church beside the convent was renamed Queen's Chapel during Queen Victoria's reign, but Queen Elizabeth restored its original title. Inside, beneath the colours of several British regiments, lie the remains of the wife of the Spanish governor of 1648, together with those of British governors O'Hara and Campbell, laid to rest in 1802 and 1813 respectively.

GREAT SYNAGOGUE AND FLEMISH SYNAGOGUE

Gibraltar has a considerable Jewish community and the Great Synagogue in Engineer Lane has the distinction of being one of the oldest on the Iberian Peninsula, dating back to 1724. Guided tours of the beautiful Flemish synagogue, located in Line Wall Road, can be arranged. There are a total of four synagogues in Gibraltar.

ANGLICAN CATHEDRAL OF THE HOLY TRINITY

Despite its deceptively Moorish appearance, Holy Trinity was not laid down until 1825. It was consecrated in 1838 at a service attended by Queen Adelaide, widow of William IV. Among those buried here is General Sir George Don under whose direction the cathedral was erected.

ST ANDREW'S CHURCH

Throughout the 150 years since it opened there has been a Presbyterian presence in Gibraltar. In the mid nineteenth century Scottish regiments were an integral part of the British army presence on the rock, but official indifference prevented those posted to Gibraltar practising their own religious tradition. In the 1840s a group of ex-patriot Scots began the fundraising, which resulted in the opening of St Andrew's Church on May 30th 1854. A striking set of stained glass windows dating from 1953 surrounds the chancel area.

MOSQUE

This beautiful example of architecture has been standing at Europa Point since 1997. It was paid for by the late King Fahad Abdul Aziz of Saudi Arabia and caters for the Muslim population of Gibraltar, most of them originating from Morocco.

HINDU TEMPLE

Inaugurated in 2000, the Hindu Temple located in Engineer Lane, serves Gibraltar's Hindu population of approximately 600.

There are a number of other places of worship in Gibraltar. For further information, please visit our website.

NATURAL HISTORY

STAND ON TOP OF THE ROCK OF GIBRALTAR AND YOU FEEL AS IF YOU ARE ON TOP OF THE WORLD, EUROPE IS AT YOUR FEET, AFRICA FILLS ONE HORIZON, WHILE THE GATEWAYS TO THE MEDITERRANEAN AND THE ATLANTIC ARE ON EITHER SIDE.

The Rock of Gibraltar seems foreboding from a distance; a great slab of jagged Jurassic Limestone towering high above its surroundings. Look closer and you can appreciate that, for 200 millions years, the Rock has continually evolved and changed. At one time it was barren and inhospitable, when the natural woodland was cleared for firewood by soldiers, at other times, carpeted with brightly coloured flora and wild flowers, some indigenous such as the Gibraltar Candytuft and Gibraltar Chickweed. The porous limestone means that there is never a shortage of water so, when the Iberian Peninsula is arid and brown, the Rock is essentially 'green', covered in shrubs and trees, such as nettle trees, carob, eucalyptus and wild olive.

Without doubt the best-loved is the mischievous Barbary macaque (macacus sylvanus) which lives in a semi-wild state on the Upper Rock tolerating and teasing the camera clicking tourists. It is believed that this tailless monkey was first introduced by the British during the 18th century. Reed deer, wolves and wild boar once made the Rock their home. Although these have long since disappeared, the migratory bird life has seemingly remained untouched by the passage of time.

Bird migration at Gibraltar manifests itself spectacularly. Thousands of black kites and honey buzzards make the relatively short journey between Europe and Africa across the strait every year. As well as other species of eagles, hawks and falcons, it is not unusual to see vultures and storks. Smaller migrants, such as swallows, martins and finches can be seen regularly on passage. Some birds are permanent residents, like the Barbary Partridge, which also originally came from North Africa. If you visit the Rock at certain times of the year, you can delight in the dazzle of colour from the flocks of Painted Lady butterflies, which are similarly endemic to Gibraltar. Possibly less appealing to some people are the bats, which swoop in and out of the innumerable crevices and caves.

LOWER ST MICHAEL'S CAVE TOUR

These caves were discovered accidentally during the Second World War when blasting a second entrance to St Michael's cave to prepare it for use as an emergency hospital. Tours are available and take around three hours. Be prepared for some minor climbing with ropes as this cave is in its original natural state. It's well worth the effort, however, as the cave is quite spectacular and includes an underground lake. Group sizes range from a minimum of five to a maximum of 10. Children under 10 are not allowed. Cameras are permitted.

ROCK APES (MACACA SYLVANUS)

World famous, and perhaps Gibraltar's most important tourist attraction, the Barbary Apes, Macaca Sylvanus, are actually tailless monkeys. Natives of North Africa, their presence in Gibraltar probably dates from the early days of the British garrison when it is presumed that they were imported as pets or even game, inevitably finding the rough limestone cliffs and scrub vegetation a congenial habitat. In fact, many legends have grown up around them. One is that they travelled from their native Morocco via a subterranean tunnel starting at St Michael's cave leading down underneath the Strait of Gibraltar. Another legend claims that should the monkeys ever disappear, the British will leave Gibraltar. During the last war, natural causes had diminished the ape numbers alarmingly, and they were in danger of extinction on the Rock. Fortunately, Sir Winston Churchill took a personal interest and additional animals were imported from Morocco. Today, there are several packs living wild on the steep slopes of the Rock. The apes are not to be touched or fed; there is a maximum fine of £500 for feeding them.

ST MICHAEL'S CAVE

Located more than 300 metres above sea level, with magnificent stalactites and stalagmites, the cave has been famous since ancient time (there are references in the works of Pomponius Mela (45 AD) and other Roman writers). Its upper hall is connected with many lower chambers by a series of winding passages. During World War II the cave was prepared as an emergency hospital, but happily it was never used for this purpose. The main chamber has been transformed into a large subterranean auditorium, and provides a unique venue for concerts, ballet, drama, fashion shows and other social events.

BOTANIC GARDENS AND WILDLIFE PARK

The spectacular Alameda Gardens were first opened to the public in 1816 and there are a number of commemorative busts and cannon on view here, which date back to the 19th century. For most visitors, however, it is the beauty of the plants and trees, which make the Alameda such a magical place; many are a combination of native species while others are imported. At certain times of year, various cultural events take place in the gardens' open-air theatre. Tours of the Botanic Gardens are also available. In 1994 the Gibraltar Customs searched and confiscated a group of animals from a large container ship from Central Africa. These and other animals that came from such ships are now housed in the Alameda Wildlife Park located within the gardens.

BIRD WATCHING

As the Strait of Gibraltar is the narrowest crossing for bird migration from Europe and Africa, the Rock offers unrivalled bird watching opportunities. Over 200 species of birds have been recorded, many of which are migratory.

CABLE CAR

A unique way of appreciating the breathtaking views is from the Cable Car. You can start your ride from the Gibraltar Botanic Gardens to the Apes' Den and then onto the summit from where, on a clear day, you can see the coast of Morocco with the Atlantic stretching before you and the Mediterranean behind.

WATER-BASED ACTIVITIES

WATER SPORTS DOMINATE THE SPORTING SCENE. THE WARM WATERS AROUND GIBRALTAR OFFER WINDSURFING, WATERSKIING AND SAILING AT ALL LEVELS FROM DINGHIES TO YACHTS.

For scuba divers there's everything from "try a dive" to advanced instruction.

There is lots to see underwater, from ancient relics to wrecks.

You can obtain scuba diving qualifications from the "NAUI", "PADI" or "BSAC" schools in Gibraltar.

Well-equipped boats offer big game fishing for Bluefin Tuna, Broadbill Swordfish and various shark, according to season.

The environmentally considerate can catch, tag and release.

WINDSURFING

As well as being a popular water sport in Gibraltar, Tarifa – touted as the windsurfing capital of Europe – is just 40 minutes drive away on the Atlantic coast.

DOLPHIN-WATCHING AND BOAT TRIPS AROUND THE BAY

The Strait of Gibraltar is home to no fewer than three species of dolphin that can be enjoyed at close quarters when you take a dolphin-watching trip, the Common Dolphin, the Striped Dolphin and the large Bottle-nosed Dolphin and it is quite common to see schools of all ages and sizes. Whales also migrate here, including the largest mammal of all, the Blue Whale, but are less common these days.

FISHING

Gibraltar is a good catch for anglers due to the unique positioning of the Rock with the Atlantic merging into the Mediterranean via the Strait. There are good fighting fish to be had, like the Conger Eel, or tasty fish like the 14 species of Bream. Book a fishing trip and discover this angler's paradise first-hand.

DIVING

Explore Gibraltar's spectacular underwater world with more than 30 wrecks, reefs and pinnacles to choose from. There are three established diving schools that offer diving opportunities both for the experienced diver and the first-time novice. All provide equipment, so all you need is a swimsuit and towel to participate.

SAILING AND YACHTING COURSES

It is difficult to imagine a better place to learn to sail than Gibraltar. The climate is warm, the Bay is sheltered but open sea, and indeed ocean, is close by. The sailing centres offer a full range of courses, from Competent Crew to the most advanced RYA qualifications. As Gibraltar is surrounded by water, sailing is a major attraction in the area with challenging wind conditions and many marinas in the vicinity.

ON THE BEACH

Swim and sunbathe at one of Gibraltar's four sandy beaches: Eastern Beach, Western Beach, the picturesque village of Catalan Bay and Sandy Bay. Throughout the year a delightful sub-tropical climate of pleasant winters, exquisite springs and shining summers make the beaches, marinas and waterfront restaurants a popular attraction.

CATALAN BAY VILLAGE

First settled by Genoese fishermen in the 18th century, some residents here still speak in their Italian native tongue. A rocky cove with a quiet sandy beach, this has always been an ideal vantage point and was considered a haven for Spaniards fleeing from Napoleon's invasion of Spain in the 19th century.

THE LIGHTHOUSE

The Gibraltar Lighthouse is the only one regulated by Trinity House outside the UK. It dates back to 1841 and stands 49 metres above sea level with a range of some 37 kilometres.

MARINAS

There are two marinas in Gibraltar, Ocean Village and Queensway Quay offering excellent berthing facilities, shops and restaurants. Sailing boats are available for charter.

ENTERTAINMENT

FOR MANY YEARS GIBRALTAR HAS ATTRACTED THOUSANDS OF BRITISH EXPATRIATES LIVING ON THE IBERIAN PENINSULA SEEKING TO STOCK UP ON ALL THOSE BRITISH GOODIES THAT THEY JUST CANNOT LIVE WITHOUT. THE TRUTH IS THAT GIBRALTAR OFFERS FAR MORE THAN FISH AND CHIPS AND IS ARGUABLY THE SHOPPING MECCA OF THE WESTERN MEDITERRANEAN.

Given its position, this is hardly surprising, as for centuries, the Rock has existed as a trading community. These days it is appreciated, not just because of the quality and choice of products available, but also because goods here are sold VAT free.

The city centre is long and narrow, extending along Main Street. Much of this bustling high street has been pedestrianised as part of an overall city plan to beautify the Rock and create a pleasant environment for visitors and residents. Trees have similarly been planted throughout the old city. Strategically placed benches, pavement cafés and bars offer a little welcome relief for weary shoppers, whilst numerous exchange centres and banks make money changing as easy as flipping a coin. Interspersed with these familiar names is a fascinating selection of smaller shops, selling everything from Chinese linens to designer sunglasses.

Handicraft shops sit side-by-side with souvenir stores where the choice ranges from a cuddly toy to an exquisite piece of Gibraltar Crystal, which you can watch being produced on-the-spot. Also to be found are a number of electrical/audio-visual equipment shops. Cigarettes, imported cigars and spirits are all-time favourites. Gold jewellery, watches, perfumes, porcelain figures, designer wear... they are all available here. It would be easy to spend days exploring Gibraltar in terms of buying power.

ARTS AND CRAFTS EXHIBITION HALLS

Situated in the old barracks at Casemates Square, this is an interesting area where one can find examples of local and foreign artwork.

JOHN MACKINTOSH HALL

The John Mackintosh Hall is the centre of Gibraltar's cultural activities where some 200 societies and associations meet regularly. It was opened on the 8th April 1964, containing a public library, a theatre/conference hall, gymnasium, spacious halls for exhibitions and other public functions, and a wing for higher education.

GIBRALTAR CRYSTAL GLASS FACTORY

The factory is open to visitors who can watch as the highly skilled glass blowers shape and work the molten glass by hand using methods, which have been perfected over the last two thousand years. By prior arrangement you can blow your own vase.

NIGHTLIFE

There are no shortages of places to go in the evening. Hotel cocktail bars offer comfortable and sophisticated surroundings for a quiet drink or not so quiet, jazz performance or other live band. For a more informal evening, almost every street in town has wine bars and lively cosmopolitan pubs. Later you might dance into the small hours at one of Gibraltar's trendy disco pubs or enjoy a flutter at the Casino. There is live entertainment during the summer months at the bustling Casemates Square positioned at the entrance of the town centre. Check the Gibraltar Tourist Board's monthly Calendar of Events for an up to date list of what's on.

CASEMATES SQUARE

Named after the British Barracks located at the north of the square, this area has served many purposes. Formerly the site of public executions, this commercial and social square contains remains of an old Moorish galley house and a gun mounted on a Koehler Depression Gun Carriage, of the type developed during the Great Siege. Nowadays, this focal entrance to the city centre has become the hub of social activities with restaurants, cafes and shops.

KING'S BASTION LEISURE CENTRE

Set between the walls of a Bastion, once used to defend Gibraltar against invading forces during the 18th century. More recently during the 1960's & 1970's the King's Bastion was used to provide electricity to the entire town. Today the bastion has been transformed to take shape as the 'Kings Bastion Leisure Centre'. Activities include Bowling, Ice Skating, Amusement Arcade, Games Room, Internet Lounge, Restaurant, Bars, Youth Bar/Lounge, Disco, Cinemas and Fitness Gym.

CASINO

Gibraltar's world famous casino originally situated next to the Rock Hotel will open its new doors in early 2009 in Ocean Village offering a stylish chargrill restaurant, a champagne bar, iceline bar and a terrace perfect for sampling a delicious range of cocktails in the sunshine. On offer will be state of the art casino tables, an electronic casino zone, a poker lounge, VIP area and 460 seater bingo club.

OCEAN VILLAGE

An integrated retail, leisure and residential complex, Ocean Village offers endless ways to relax in unparalleled facilities. Indulge yourself in familiar international brands available in stores on the elegant boardwalk. Enjoy the fabulous range of eating and drinking in bars and restaurants open around the marina.

WINING AND DINING

Running parallel to Main Street is the pedestrianised Irish Town that is well worth a visit with its historic coffee houses, specialist ironmongers, Irish pubs and attractive restaurants. You can find most ethnic and international cuisines in Gibraltar, including Indian, Chinese, Thai, Argentinean, Japanese, Moroccan, Kosher and European, such as English, Danish, French, Spanish and Italian. For a meal on the go, there are fast-food restaurants and conveniently located sandwich bars plus, plenty of 'ye olde' English pubs and pavement cafés. Fish lovers are catered for as well. The marinas are an easy walk from the city centre, while Catalan Bay on the east side is equally charming with well situated restaurants specialising in seafood with that 'catch of the day' freshness.

GETTING MARRIED

FOLLOW IN THE FOOTSTEPS OF JOHN LENNON AND YOKO ONO, SIR SEAN CONNERY AND GET MARRIED ON THE ROCK. GETTING MARRIED IN GIBRALTAR IS EASY AND VISITORS CAN CHOOSE FROM A VARIETY OF LOCATIONS.

Hollywood lovers, heartthrob Lawrence Harvey and Margaret Leighton were one of the first high profile couples to say 'I do' in Gibraltar. In 1962 as the world became entranced by the numbers 007, screen hero Sean Connery married actress Diane Cilento. Sadly, this marriage was not to last but Connery's affection for Gibraltar did as he returned in 1975 to marry his present wife Micheline Boglio Roquebrune.

However, it is the marriage of Beatle John Lennon to Yoko Ono in 1969 that caused the biggest media sensation.

HOTELS

Four of Gibraltar's hotels, The Caleta Hotel, The O'Callaghan Elliott Hotel, The Rock Hotel and the Queen's Hotel are approved for civil marriages and offer teams of advisors to assist with every arrangement from paperwork, catering, photography, flowers and the bridal suite. It is advisable to book a wedding well in advance of the chosen date to avoid disappointment.

TIMELESS HISTORY FOR THE PERFECT SETTING

Recent changes permit the marriage registrar to marry couples outside the registry if requested. The following venues are approved to carry out civil weddings.

THE MOUNT

The Mount, which was built in 1797, was formerly the official residence of the senior officer of the Royal Navy in Gibraltar. It is today an officially listed building, which boasts fascinating gardens.

THE ALAMEDA BOTANICAL GARDENS

The Alameda Botanical Gardens were developed in 1816 for the purpose of providing civilians with an area of beauty for rest and relaxation. Today the gardens have developed into the Botanical Gardens. Wedding services are permitted in "the Dell", an Italian style garden laid out by a Genoese gardener in 1842.

THE GARRISON LIBRARY

The Garrison Library in the town centre was established in 1793 and houses some of the finest books published in the 18th and 19th centuries.

THE CABLE CAR STATION

The cable car station at the top of the Rock is not only one of the most unusual venues to choose to exchange vows, but also offers stunning panoramic views across the European coast and to Africa.

SIMPLE PROCEDURE

Today hundreds of couples are travelling to Gibraltar to exchange vows, choosing to follow in the footsteps of Sir Sean Connery, John Lennon and Yoko Ono. As Gibraltar is a popular location for getting married it is wise to plan well in advance. Local marriage law does not contain any residential requirements and so therefore it is a simple procedure, also a Gibraltar marriage is recognised worldwide.

THE GIBRALTAR TOURIST BOARD OFFICIAL GIBRALTAR HOTEL GRADING SCHEME

The Gibraltar Tourist Board's Official Hotel Grading Scheme is managed in partnership with the Automobile Association (AA) of the UK.

The Scheme uses a star classification system for hotels, ranging from One to Five stars. In addition the AA awards Rosettes, from One to Five, to those hotels where the restaurants serve food of an excellent or outstanding quality.

The AA along with visit Britain™, the Wales Tourist Board and Visit Scotland™ have worked together to establish a Common Standards rating for hotel properties in the UK. These common standards are also applied to Gibraltar in this scheme. More information is available on the AA's website at www.theaa.com or in the AA's annual Hotel Guide.

The properties taking part in the Scheme in Gibraltar are inspected annually by the AA and are distinguished in the listings by AA logo and yellow stars next to the property name.

The Scheme is a voluntary one and those properties not participating have volunteered their own classification, which is distinguished by white stars next to the property name.
